CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

INAUGURAL DOCTORAL COLLOQUIUM – 4 & 5 NOVEMBER, 2025
(Garden Court Hotel, Kitwe)

THEME: Knowledge creation for African realities to support local industrialization and sustainable development

The Copperbelt University School of Graduate Studies Doctoral Colloquium Programme Committee is calling for abstract submissions from all doctoral students at the Copperbelt University to be presented at the Doctoral Colloquium to be held on 4th and 5th November 2025 at the Garden Court Hotel, Kitwe. The theme of the colloquium is Knowledge creation for African realities to support local industrialization and sustainable development

Objectives:

- Provide a formal academic platform for the evaluation of doctoral research progress
- Critically assess the methodological rigor, originality, and scholarly contribution of each candidate's work
- Facilitate constructive feedback from faculty, peers, and examiners to enhance dissertation quality and coherence
- Ensure alignment with institutional standards and readiness for final submission and examination
- Promote intellectual exchange and foster a culture of research excellence within the doctoral community

Call for Abstracts

With an exciting theme and clearly defined objectives for the upcoming Doctoral Colloquium, we would like to invite abstracts for the following Streams:

1. Business	5. Medicine
2. Humanities And Social Sciences	6. Built Environment
3. Natural Sciences	7. Peace And Conflict
4. Information And Communication Technology

Presentations

The colloquium will feature two distinct formats of doctoral research presentation:

- Oral Presentations: Selected candidates will deliver structured, time-bound presentations before a panel of academic reviewers. These sessions will include formal feedback and scholarly discussion.

- Poster Presentations: Some candidates will present their research through visual posters displayed in designated exhibition areas. This format encourages interactive engagement, peer review, and informal dialogue.

Both formats will run concurrently across the two days, grouped by discipline and thematic relevance to ensure focused academic exchange.
